Per IPEDS, first-time freshmen began their college career at SEU; transfers are excluded. Only undergraduate degrees are reported. Starting in Fall 2016, the College transitioned to a fully coeducational institution. Prior to Fall 2016, Traditional Undergraduates corresponds to the Women's College.

Two minor changes were made to this table. One student each from the Fall 2011 and Fall 2012 entry cohorts died prior to graduation. As a result, Number At Entry was decreased by one for each of these cohorts per IPEDS guidelines and graduation rates were recomputed based on the new Number at Entry.

This definition is used by the US Integrated Postsecondary Educational Data System (IPEDS) which defines Retained as enrolling in the subsequent fall semester.

Starting in Fall 2016, the College transitioned to a fully coeducational institution. Prior to Fall 2016, Traditional Undergraduates corresponds to the Women's College.

^a Major represents intended major at entry. Starting with FA16 entry cohort, FTTF are not officially accepted into the major until the second semester sophomore year.

FTTF began their undergraduate career at SEU per IPEDS; freshmen transfers are excluded.

Only first majors declared at entry are reported; few students, other than Elementary Education majors, declared a second major.

Retention rates by major should be interpreted with caution since some samples of students were very small at entry.

Enrolled counts include students who graduated in less than 4 years.

N=Number of courses. Enrl=Sum of enrolled students in each class (not a unique headcount). Online = SEU online courses. Consortium = courses offered through online Consortiums.

This table reflects a new summer term session schedule implemented in Summer 2020.

This table reflects course deliver changes due to Covid-19 protocols. During Spring 2020, all SEU courses transitioned to a remote delivery format; table reflects original course deliveries in place at the beginning Spring 2020. During Summer 2020, the vast majority of SEU courses were delivered fully online. During Fall 2020, SEU implemented the High Flex model for the vast majority of courses; under the high flex model, students had the option of attending in-person or remotely, and a large number of classes migrated to a fully online format.
